Healthcare Associated Infection (HAI):

The Unknown Killer

Healthcare Associated Infections (HAIs) affect millions of people and add billions in additional healthcare costs. HAIs are the unintended consequences of care delivered by healthcare organizations.¹

The most frequent infections are urinary tract infections, followed by respiratory tract infections, infections after surgery, bloodstream infections, and others (including diarrhoea due to Clostridium difficile). Multi-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) is isolated in approximately 5% of all healthcare-associated infections.

Approximately 20–30% of healthcare-associated infections are considered to be preventable by intensive hygiene and control programmes.²

If you are admitted to a hospital, you have a 5% Chance of Contracting an HAI.

If a patient contracts and HAI, the length of stay in the hospital increases by 17.6 days

HAIs kill more people each year than Breast Cancer and Prostate Cancer combined.
